

Employee Free Choice?

Not if You're a Member of the Service Employees International Union

*As a healthcare worker, every day
I make life and death decisions.*

"Andy Stern, SEIU President, has centralized power in the hands of a few appointed leaders. He's keeping professional caregivers like me from making critical decisions about collective bargaining, electing union officers, and even which local union represents us.

As a healthcare worker, I make life and death decisions every day.

If I can make those critical decisions when taking care of patients, why won't Andy Stern allow me to have a free choice about my future in SEIU?"
